

Nashville Office

Q2 2024

Key Takeaways

- Nashville's office absorption totaled positive 512,030 SF at the end of Q2 2024, the metro's fifth consecutive quarter of positive absorption.
- Overall office vacancy decreased in Q2 to 17.7%, down 9% over Q1 2024.
- Office investment volume reached $362M at mid-year 2024, more than double the volume of the first half of 2023.

Uptick in Leasing Activity in Second Quarter 2024

The Nashville market made multiple headlines in the second quarter, including an announcement that Oracle will move its world headquarters to Nashville, as well as the opening of TruGreen's new corporate office in Franklin, Tennessee. These companies are among several industry giants who recently relocated, renewed or expanded in Middle Tennessee in 2024 including Tik Tok, PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC), Apple Music, and Brookdale Senior Living. Nashville's office market experienced a solid Q2, as leasing volume gained momentum with over one million square feet in deals executed, and sizable move-ins across the market resulted in 512,030 SF of positive absorption.

Nashville continued to see steady job growth across most sectors in the first half of 2024, with hospitals, restaurants, and ambulatory healthcare adding the most jobs. Oxford Economics forecasts job growth of 1.1% in 2024 and average annual growth of 0.9% in 2025 through 2028.

Absorption, New Supply & Vacancy

Nashville's office market finished Q2 2024 with absorption exceeding 500,000 square feet, as the overall vacancy decreased for a third consecutive quarter due to multiple move-ins and no new supply.

Availability + Demand

Nashville's office market hit its stride in Q2, ending the quarter with positive 512,030 square feet, bringing the YTD net absorption total to 655,286 square feet. Market-wide availability stands at 21.4%, with much of the availability located in the suburban submarkets. Broken down by size requirements, there are minimal size restraints across the market for direct space. Sublease availability ended Q2 at 3.8%, unchanged over the previous quarter but down 40 basis points year-over-year.

Leasing exceeded over 1M square feet in Q2, outpacing last quarter's leasing by 52%. Average deal size in Nashville's office is tracking between 7,000 to 8,000 square feet, on par with the last three quarters.

Rental Rates

Overall rental rates in Nashville continue to hover in the $34.00 range per square foot. The average asking rent increased 3.3% year-over-year to $34.07 at the end of Q2. Class A trophy product remains in high demand, with asking rates upwards of $10-15 per square foot more than the rates of existing inventory. The market Class A rate of $36.17 is a 6% premium from the market's average.

Nashville's average vacancy rate decreased to 17.7% in Q2, following the market's peak of 18.6% in Q1. Though vacancy is higher in Class A product overall, Class A buildings experienced a 1.4% decline in vacancy in Q2, with move-ins accounting for 75% of absorption for the quarter.

Office Development + Investment

Construction is underway on 2.0M square feet of office product in Middle Tennessee, and 61% of this space is pre-leased. The vast majority of the new construction is concentrated in the urban core and surrounding fringe submarkets, accounting for 84% of the development activity. 820,700 square feet are predicted to complete in the second half of 2024, followed by over 960,000 SF in 2025.

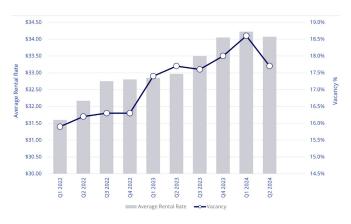

The Nashville market saw marked improvement in icapital markets during Q2, as office investment volume reached $361,957,513 in the first six months of 2024, more than doubling the volume of 2023 in the same time frame. The sale of Truist Plaza was largest sale in Q2, trading for $84.5M ($249/SF) to Menlo Equities. This was the second high-rise building sold in the Downtown submarket in the last 5 months.
